

Political Factionalism Assailed By Prime Minister

SUBVERSIVE MOVEMENTS ARE DECRIMED

Peace Is Definitely Linked With Economic Policies, Meeting Told

"But all over the world," he said, "institutions in which we have always had faith are being shaken to their foundations. He believes that is all for the good if these movements can be directed into legal channels."

"But we have in this country many movements that make for democracy and freedom and influence of this country among the nations of the world. If we lost that influence it would be bad for Canada."

Canada's CONCERN
"We in Canada are concerned, whether we like it or not, with what happens in Asia, Africa, etc. And we know that there are wars on both continents. Any mistake or hasty action might have irreparable consequences."

Pleading for preservation of the old political alignment Mr. Bennett said: "I am here to destroy the old political parties and a dozen new ones take their place; they will be more honest and their policies made up of the same individuals."

"The party is not moving fast enough to meet the needs of the people. We must help and make young men feel and help to make it what it should be. It is in a party's force for radical reform could and should be exercised."

A political party such as ours is the only one that exists anywhere. It brings together all classes of society, all creeds and nationalities."

"A political party makes the way for democratic action and the maintenance of democracy. It preserves value. Breaking up the only effective force in the world, the great powers have no principles and principles are dead."

DEMOCRATIC LINES
"There will always be the Conservative party and the Liberal party," Mr. Bennett declared.

"He who is not for us is against us." He was quoted, but he urged that "those who are against us get out of the way. We must deal with our differences along democratic lines."

Mr. Bennett referred to "those who say they want peace and are going to vote for this and that organization to bring about world peace."

"Peace," he was told, "was not a policy of the United States. It has been a cause of the application of the right policies. I think the Liberal party has always been the signatories of that truth."

LEADS TO HATE
Nations of the world were finding that economic depression had not been the only hate that was moving countries to "hit at each other's throats."

Meeting with force was not going to bring peace. Normal relations in trade and in every other interest were the only paths to peace. No nation any more than individual could live alone itself.

Referring to Mr. Pinard's statement in the reception of the delegation of 1914, Mr. Bennett declared if Sir Wilfrid Laurier had succeeded at that time, we would not have had what influenced the example of the relationship between Canada and United States which we have seen in the nations of the world. I think it would have been an interest to go back upon the whole world."

I think the Canada-United States agreement which we made two years ago was not nothing compared with what Laurier would have accomplished had stood out as an example to the rest of the world more than any other international incident in recent years."

DUTY TO WORLD

A Canadian leader and responsibility not only to his city but to his province, Dominion, the British Commonwealth and the world, is the Prime Minister said. When he was deliberating with his colleagues at the recent conference on the international affairs affecting not only the Empire but the whole world and involving the welfare of all peoples and with the feelings and will of his own people were constantly in mind.

"My mind," the Prime Minister said, "was continually going back to the fact that the Canadian and my fellow members would say in caucus, and how they would view a particular proposal."

He asked the views of the citizens at home play their part in the deliberations of world affairs."

Sulfanilamide Dead Is Increased To 31

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—The American Medical Association criticized federal legislation on sulfanilamide as "woefully inefficient" and suggested more efficient legislation as it reported that the death toll in cases of sulfanilamide had risen to 21.

The new total was an increase of five for the day. The association said the number probably would rise above 30.

Maritime Bar Is Mounted On Stilts

LUFKIN, Texas, Oct. 27.—This country voted dry last week so John F. Gandy, president of the Lufkin Fish and Game Club, decided to mount the middle of the Neches River, mounted it on stilts and declared himself a dry county.

In place of the business came a country church, according him of "Gospel Singing."

Power posted $250 bond with of away so he could "dry" the sand bed."

BENNETT AGAIN HITS LIBERALS, COMMISSION

Prairie Drought Relief Special Target For Conservative Leader

REGINA, Oct. 27.—Another attack on Liberal administration of relief in Saskatchewan was made by Rt. Hon. W. L. Bennett here last night when he addressed an audience of about 4,000.

Rising from his seat, Mr. Bennett's statement Tuesday from Ottawa, Mr. Bennett said: "These people have never been able to get the councils of the rural municipalities. That's the basic unit of the government."

NOT LIBERALS

"It's not a Liberal government that gives you relief," Mr. Bennett said. "It's not a Liberal government that gives Canada in a spirit of sympathy and helpfulness."

It was not the week's first crop failure, said Mr. Bennett. His government had seen the failure of the 1936 crop and had tried to institute relief measures. A relief commission of five men had been appointed.

"To this day I have never heard any dare to say that relief was administered in a spirit of sympathy and helpfulness. It was a partisan matter," Mr. Bennett declared.

He said the situation had changed. People in the south country had been trained to attend meetings or read newspapers in which other than Liberal opinions were expressed. They had been told, said they were reminded by relief inspectors that they were getting relief.

Mr. Bennett spoke of espionage in Canada and exile to Siberia in Russia.

MAKES COMPARISON

He presented these comparisons to his press conference concerning relief measures.

Thank God there are people in this country who care for the unfortunate," he said.

"I don't think the forces of evil will permit that to continue."

She had asked for a million. The settlement followed Manville's spectacular full-page advertisement in New York papers for an attorney.

provincial relations was also made by Mr. Bennett. In regard to the Rowell commission on Dominion relations, Mr. Bennett signed with the United States, Mr. Bennett said, "our successor came to me and said, 'What do you think of all the things we had done?'"

In reference to the Rowell commission, Mr. Bennett said, "I will be recommended. Why waste time in having them do over again by somebody else? There is already an election coming. The public will permit that thing to continue."

NOT OF PEOPLE
The members were not representatives of the people, the chairman was Chief Justice Rosell of Ontario, an eminent jurist but not a member of any parliament or legislature. The western representative of the United States, Mr. Bennett said, "our successor came to me and said, 'What do you think of all the things we had done?'"

"There is no public man who has ever disagreed with him that of any other political faith than his own that he has not condemned him—ever again by somebody else? There is already an election coming. The public will permit that thing to continue."

"Do you mean . . . that these men can fund out anything that we do not already know?" He said there were the blue books and other records available to the House of Commons. Mr. Bennett asked, "Have you ever heard of him?"

Tries Again Liquor Act Extolled—Beer Vending Character As Privilege

LETHBRIDGE, Oct. 27.—Members of the Alberta Hotel Association, in convention here yesterday, were told by J. W. McLean, general chairman of the Alberta Liquor Control Board, to remember their business before the bar of the public opinion.

"You are members of a big industry, the second largest in North America continent and with many millions of dollars invested in it. You are entitled to a privilege to the worth of public opinion and I urge you to protect it," he advised.

NO RADICAL CHANGES

He told the association the Board plans no radical changes in the operation of the Alberta Liquor Act, which was introduced in 1920.

"I am confident there is no better resolution of the beer problem than that of the Liquor Control Board," he said. "The public is getting a reasonable service for the privileges granted to it."

FROM EDMONTON

CHARLES Trainweller, of Calgary, was re-elected president of the association of hoteliers of Alberta. Mr. Trainweller signed with the United States, Mr. Bennett said, "our successor came to me and said, 'What do you think of all the things we had done?'"

Modernized China—Specter That Scares Japan

Rapid Development Seen As Reason For Desperate Effort of Nipponese to Establish Domination

In the 10 years since Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek came to power, engineers have transformed China from a tradition ridden land of pagodas into a nation of modern factories, bridges and transport. It is the spectre of the modern China that impresses the Japanese, hence that urges the Japanese campaign to gain the upper hand before the strength of 350,000,000 people can be mobilized.

CONFICTING STORIES BUT SAME WITNESS

Calgary Court Hears Evidence Of Fatal Shooting Of Old Farmer

CALGARY, Oct. 27.—Stories—different stories of the fatal shooting of Frederick Lester Farris, 57-year-old farmer, were heard in the Alberta Supreme court here yesterday.

The one farm witness, Clifford Suggs, 42-year-old farm laborer, told both sides he witnessed the trial of Alister Farris, charged with the murder of his father.

SIGHT THROUGH DOOR

At the morning session, Suggs told the court: "Albert fired two shots at his father through the screen door of the house. After the second shot Farris said, 'I am shot.'

Suggs said he was in the house when the shooting occurred, after a dispute over $40 between father and son.

"I am telling the honest to God truth," witness told Prosecutor C. E. Dennis.

SAME EVIDENCE

At the inquest held in Olds, Suggs testified he was not in the house at the time of the shooting. He had said the first shot was fired when he was in the outer porch, and saw evidence at the preliminary hearing.

Examined by J. McNealy Condon, defence counsel, yesterday afternoon, the witness reiterated his earlier evidence at the inquest that he was not in the house when the truth!

"I will say yes to everything you say to me," he said, and the crown prosecutor.

Mr. Farris said: "Absolutely, but it is a habit I taught him."

DURING SICKNESS

At the opening of the trial Monday, Mrs. Lester Farris, mother of the witness, said her husband was fatally wounded during a struggle for possession of the rifle. She said he had been shot twice and died last night.

The last witness yesterday, Condon, also said Farris declared Alister had denied that the rifle was in his hands when the shooting occurred.

Court adjourned until 10 a.m. Wednesday.

Guard Is Called When Labor Man Given a Beating

DALLAS, Oct. 27.—A labor organizer, later identified as James F. Morrissey, Company employee who had been organizing for the C. I. O., was beaten yesterday. He was seized by two cardinals of men and beaten with a rubber hose until his nose was broken and his body cut and maimed.

Harold Bowen, the victim, was identified by his wife, Mrs. Morrissey, Company employee who had been organizing for the C. I. O. She said he was beaten because he had been giving a speech.

The cardinals, who stated they were members of a labor organization, later identified as the Knights of Labor, had been hiding in thickets, without food, until hunger finally drove them to open their mouths.

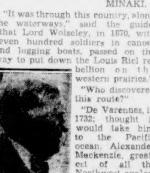

The cardinals, who gave him a ride—a to-a police station, where he was found to be a Japanese airman brought down in his plane—had been feeding him through the settlement with provisions from Indian Bay. He got there and paid for his meal with a cabin key, which he had taken from the shack occupied by the lumber wolf and his mistress. The

EASTERN CANADA AND THE RED RIVER

AT THAT MOMENT IN THE CONVERSATION, I had come to a halt, exhausted by the cold and exertion, and mastered the past ten miles. Once more, three times, the fat lunged forward, then stopped again. On my honor, I allowed him no slack. Nevertheless, right there in the snow, I turned him over, and himself I hauled him over the snow and into the shed, where I took several pairs of mittens off him.

Dominion's Place in World Is Pointed by Minister to U.S.A.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—A call for Canada and Canada to take their rightful place among the nations of the world to promote peace and understanding in the world was issued last night by the Canadian minister to the U.S. at Washington.

In an address at a dinner given by the Canadian Club of New York in honor of himself and Lady Marler, Sir Herbert said these aims could only be realized through the maintenance of our national unity, the development of our country, and of the British Commonwealth, the preserving of our independence, intimate relations with the United States and the application of methods of consultation with other nations.

MATERIAL DUTIES

He particularly emphasized that two material duties were incompatible, the one with the other, or in the least "embarrassing" to our international position.

"These things he classed as 'materiel duties.' In leading up to this point he said the first duty should be the maintenance of the unity of Canada as a nation."

He was followed by Sir Edward MacKenzie, president of the Canadian National Railways, Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Robert Borden, who devoted their lives to prevent different sections of Canada from acquiring full status of nationhood.

"The second duty, the political effects, namely to harmonize and not to accentuate our differences, he said, was the task which faced Canada from abroad known from experience that a United Canada is in the long run of considerable importance. We should

"We should think in terms of more than just ourselves."

We must continually remind ourselves of this and fully realize the incontestable fact that on the question of our national unity depend the success of every port of the country," he said.

DEFENSE COMPANY

It was an impressive company that paid honor to the Minister and Lady Marler. Among the distinguished guests were Sir John Campbell, British consul-general; Edward MacKenzie, general manager of the Montreal Gas Co.; Mr. Frank Parker, president of the New York Stock Exchange; Henri Renard, president of the St. Jean Baptiste Society of New York; Dr. J. C. McLean, former senator in the United States of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

For the first time in his career, Sir Herbert viewed the spirit of good-naturedness and co-operation between Canadians and Americans that has existed today than ever before. But Canadians must maintain their place on the largest scale in the family of nations, he said.

Very briefly he took into consideration the requirements and progress of other nations, their stability, their economic condition and confidence in our country, their products and our trade with other countries, and the great wall ourselves in or well outside our own," he said.

NAME CHANGED

138 YEARS AGO

CHARLOTTETOWN, Oct. 27.—A proclamation changing the name of the Island of St. John to Prince Edward Island was issued 138 years ago this summer.

The name of the French who named this crescent-shaped island in the Gulf of St. Lawrence the Island of St. John, in 1604, was changed to the name of the Calots so named it on St. John's Day in 1493, but the change did not become official until, as unlikely as records show that these early English explorers on that day were far distant from the shores of the Island.

Most historians believe the name Isle du Bas was given by some French explorer to the southern part of the Island of St. John, it was said to have been chosen by the Treaty of Paris in 1763.

The original proclamation changing the name of the Island of St. John to Prince Edward Island rests in the Memorial chamber of the Province House, now.

Major Forced To Drink Coffee At Water Plant

EDMONTON, Oct. 27.—Major Benjamin F. Sturtevant knows just how the Alberta Minister fell with "water" when he came and "had a drop to drink."

Major Sturtevant, at the luncheon held in the Moffat filter plant yesterday to celebrate the completion of the new water treatment plant, said the minister was thirsty and the major was thirsty.

There was plenty of coffee, but the major wanted water, and he said so.

It was an unavoidable request. On each side of him were large pipes leading from the new water plant handling 56 million gallons of water a day.

"I'm sorry, boss," said the water. "We just can't go no water." The major drank coffee.

Provincial News Notes

Pioneer Lived In West 40 Years

NORTH DEER, Oct. 27.—William Henry Rich, 77, one of Red Deer's oldest citizens, died yesterday at a Calmar hospital after a lingering illness.

Born in England in 1869, he came to the west over 40 years ago and resided in Red Deer, Alberta, for many years. He retired and has lived in the village of Calmar since 1923. He was nearly 70 years. He served on the village council.

His funeral will be held at the Little Chapel on the Corner, Ogden, Calgary, Rev. R. Davies officiating. Burial will be in the Rich's plot in the Calmar cemetery.

GIVES UP WORK

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE, Oct. 27.—John Broadfoot, 65, who for the past year in charge of the Mountain mission in the Douverant district, has decided to give up his work there and will be forced to give up his work temporarily, owing to poor health.

LOSS UNEXPECTED SEATS

Two of the three seats were university seats where outstanding independent candidates offered to give up their seats because of the small amount of money available.

Mr. Broadfoot's loss was unexpected and the loss of the seats will be a financial blow to the mission.

Blue And Barnes Speakers At Czar

CAZAR, Oct. 27.—The Czar Open Air Auditorium here was packed on Saturday with addresses by A. Blue, M.L.A. for Blaeberry, and L. G. Barnes, M.L.A. for Edmonton.

Mr. Blue urged oil ownership by the government, the use of natural resources and the necessity for an Alberta provincial government.

Mr. Barnes received an enthusiastic welcome. This was his first visit to the Czar. His address dealt with the present economic situation which he feels is unjust and that the government has too much power in his hands.

Mr. Barnes said that for a cabin seat, such person should be elected to office by all the members of the constituency not named by the premier, he felt.

Curious World —By William Ferguson

When Columbus discovered America, there were no horses on the continent; although some remains have been shown that the horse originated here, most all assumed it was imported from Europe. Wild horses are stragglers of herds brought over by Spanish.
